Officials moving from foggy bottom to foggy bottom?

If Mr. Gillies and Mayor Thomas counted frogs [as suggested in a Feb. 25 Eyewitness Sound Off], they'd probably croak.

Well, well, well. Unwell caller shares thoughts on deepwell

Are you sick? No, I'm well. How many wells are there? There's water well and an oil well and a wishing well and now there's an injection well that might make me very sick — not well.

Romak's comment on Engler's triplets were out of bounds

Councilwoman Romak, I applaud your efforts on keeping the deep well out of Romulus, but I think that you went a little far in involving the Engler triplets. Let's keep the little kids out of this.

Engler should move his family near the deep well in Romulus

Since Gov. John Engler thinks this injection well is safe, I think his family should live in Romulus near the injection well to prove it.

Council members praised for refusing Westland pensions

Hip Hip Hooray for the five Westland City Council members who declined city pensions.

DEQ issues deepwell permit

Construction to start on above ground facilities . . .

By MIKE WILCOX
MCN Publisher

Just two days after nearly 300 people gathered to protest the proposed Romulus deepwell, the Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) issued a construction permit for aboveground storage facilities at the well's site.

The permit, subject of several meetings and protests, signals the beginning of the construction process for Environmental Disposal Systems (EDS). Once completed the facility will accept up to 400,000 gallons per day of liquid hazardous waste that will be injected nearly one-mile deep into the ground.

The permit which was issued last Friday, allows EDS to build storage and treatment facilities at the Citrin Drive site. The approval is part of a lengthy public process that involves local, county, state and federal authorities.

EDS already has U.S. Environmental Protection Agency approval to inject waste into the wells after the facilities are built. It had to obtain the MDEQ construction permit for the supporting storage and treatment facilities before the wells could be drilled.

A previous EDS injection well constructed near Wahrman Road was the subject of litigation for several years by the City of Romulus. The Michigan Court of Appeals ultimately found that the company complied with all requirements.

"A thorough technical review by DEQ staff has determined that this project meets all of the state's rigorous requirements," said DEQ Director Russell Harding. "With community input, we have crafted a stringent permit that incorporates numerous safeguards and preserves the local quality of life. The DEQ has every confidence in this technology and will continue working with the company to ensure that its permit obligations are met."

Others, however, strongly disagreed with Harding. RECAP, a group that has strongly opposed the well issued a statement that said in part, "These actions (issuing the permit) by Mr. Harding are further proof that he is guilty of dereliction of duty and that he has made a mockery of the system."

The statement added, "We feel the permit was not issued yesterday by Mr. Harding, but it was issued two years ago when the campaign dollars started rolling in."

Democratic representative Ray Basham also claimed the permit approval was tied to politics. Basham said, "Every time the environment gets in the way of Governor Engler's political contributors, the environment loses."

"The Governor and his appointee ignored their own Site Review Board's strong recommendation," added Basham. "The DEQ ignored the experts and the citizens, and instead listened to the special interests."

The DEQ however, insisted on several requirements that bring additional safeguards to the proposed project. For example the process of unloading, storing, treating and injecting waste into the wells will occur in an enclosed structure.

Other facility specific conditions are:

- Limiting the number of trucks that can be staged on site and prohibiting the staging of trucks on Citrin Drive.
- Requiring that follow-up reports from the company regarding incidents of noncompliance that endangered human health or the environment also be sent to the cities of Romulus and Taylor.

Incorporating the community agreement between EDS and the local Environmental Concerns Association. This agreement addresses such issues as hours of operation, residential property values, employment goals for area residents, and hazardous materials training for local authorities.

EDS applied for the construction permit in May, 1999. Since then the DEQ has conducted ten public hearings and meetings in Romulus.

The company still needs a hazardous waste operator's license before it can begin operating. The DEQ will have 120 days to decide that application once it is submitted.

but disgruntled opponents make plans to protest

By GENA GIANNUZZI

Over 350 people packed the Romulus High School Auditorium on Wednesday, February 22, at a townhall meeting hosted by Romulus/Taylor State Representative Ray Basham, regarding the proposed toxic waste well by Metro Airport.

Our hazardous waste being sent to Ontario

By JIM RAREY
MCN Special Writer

What government official said the following regarding hazardous waste, "This is a situation that is frustrating, that is beyond annoying because of the public health concern. Embarrassing comes to mind. It's not something of which I'm proud?"

Was it, a) Governor John Engler, b) MDEQ's Russ Harding, c) State Representative Ray Basham, or d) Romulus Councilwoman Debbie Romak?

The correct answer is, none of the above. The statement was made at a Sept. 17, 2000 press conference by (now former) Ontario Environmental Minister Tony Clement. He was referring to a report that documented a doubling of hazardous waste management in Ontario in the last ten years.

While some of the increase was due to increased production in Ontario, much of it was caused by increased imports from other provinces but primarily from the United States.

The increase of exported hazardous waste from the U.S. to Ontario was attributed to two factors. Ontario's hazardous waste regulations and restrictions are much less stringent than U.S. standards. Thus disposal of the waste in Ontario requires less costly processing than in the U.S. The other factor is the weakness of the Canadian dollar relative to the U.S. dollar making even comparable operations cheaper in Ontario.

According to figures released by the Canadian Institute for Environmental Law and Policy (CIELAP), imports of hazardous waste from the top 15 U.S. companies in 1998 (the last year for which total numbers are available) totaled 125,454 tons. Of that total, 46.3% or 58,046 tons came from the Detroit Metro area. All 15 companies were in the business of treating hazardous waste, but did not generate it.

Representative Basham, who sponsored the night's events, gave an informational packet to the citizens attending, including articles from Texas and Florida where deep injection wells have failed.

One of the articles from the Dallas Observer chronicled the many ailments suffered by children near the Winona, Texas facility, including breathing problems, skin diseases, growth disorders, unexplained tumors, and cancer.

The mixing of chemicals in the Texas deep well caused many explosions that would gas the surrounding areas with toxic substances. The facility was forced to close down under the pressure of personal injury lawsuits.

The residents of Romulus are concerned that the same thing will happen here, not only at the deep well facility but anywhere along Michigan's roads and highways as tankers bearing these volatile substances are transported to the Citrin Road site in Romulus.

Taylor resident Malcolm Lawson, who brought son Malcolm with him, commented as he was entering the meeting, "I'm concerned about property values, about the health of our neighborhood, and about the possibility of a spill as they transport hazardous waste."

In fact, in the morning before the townhall meeting, there was an accident involving a tanker bearing a toxic substance, in which toxins were emitted onto the road and into the drains.

There were people from several communities present to learn more about the well, and to express their concern that the well's effects could reach farther than the Romulus border.

Coming all the way from Garden City were Raymond Davies, his sister Kim McAdams, and her two daughters Brittney and Paula. Davies said, "We don't want a toxic well in Romulus. If it leaks into the water it will effect us in Garden City too."

The battle against EDS being granted a permit to move forward with the well has recently become more visible with the addition of Geoffrey Fieger, representing the well opponents.

Though Fieger himself was not present this night, his partner Michael Schwartz was there as part of the panel of people addressing the crowd. Also present were Romulus Mayor Oakley, Taylor Mayor Pitoniak, Trish Lentz of the Downriver Area Realtors, Ver-lie Wilhide of Romulus Environmentalists Care About People (RECAP), Debbie Romak of the Romulus City Council, and Ed Boike, Wayne County Commissioner and member of the Site Review Board.

Swartz's blamed Engler for the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's expressed intent to grant a permit for the well, alleging corruption, and political contributions to the Republicans to be the reason.

Taylor Mayor Greg Pitoniak expressed the support of the people of Taylor in the fight against this well, including bearing the financial burden for legal challenges.

Trish Lentz of the Downriver Board of Realtors voiced opposition to the well from her organization, as well as from the State Board of Realtors. "This well will definitely affect the property values in the area. When people sell their homes, the waste well will have to be on their disclosure statement," she stated.

Verlie Wilhide of RECAP told the audience that 21 other environmental groups are joining them in the fight against this well.

Ed Boike, Wayne County Commissioner and a member of the Site Review Board that recommended rejection of the permit reiterated that the well should not move forward, and that 15 commissioners have voted unanimously to oppose this well.

There was a question and answer period at which time many in the crowd expressed feelings of being sold out for the sake of EDS making a profit, even though they would be the ones bearing the life changing effects of these chemicals.

Mrs. Langois of Taylor came to the meeting with her husband Ralph. "The well doesn't make sense," she said. "The buck comes before the people."

Residents complained that the effects of the well don't seem to matter to the leadership of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, who residents feel have ignored countless studies and recommendations against the well going in.

Mark Grignon who lives only 1/2 a mile from the Citrin Road Site brought his 14 month old daughter Sarah with him. "I am concerned about how the well could hurt my little girl. I don't want the well to go in because if it does I will not be able to get fair market value for my property." Most of Grignon's neighbors are elderly and have lived in their homes most of their lives. "I would hate to move from there. It is the perfect neighborhood with the perfect neighbors. I would hate to see them destroy it," concluded Grignon.

The RECAP group will be sponsoring a protest March 1 at 9AM outside the Coleman Young Municipal Building to denounce the City of Detroit's Policemen and Firemen Retirement System's $11 million investment in the EDS waste well.

Michiganians overpaying $1 billion for long-distance

Maybe you're not surprised by the news that Michigan consumers are paying too much for long-distance telephone service.

But $1.03 billion too much? Every year?

Unfortunately, yes. A recent study* of our state's long-distance market shows that Michigan customers could be saving more than a billion dollars annually in long-distance and toll charges. How? By opening up the market to full competition.

The study, commissioned by Ameritech and conducted by Stephen Pociask, President of TeleNomic Research, LLC — a Virginia-based economic research and consulting firm — finds "conclusive, empirical evidence that the long-distance market remains heavily concentrated."

That means the market is dominated by only a few companies — the "Big Three," to be exact: AT&T, WorldCom and Sprint. Furthermore, says the report, this lack of competition is being sustained by regulatory obstacles.

Based on New York's long-distance market, the study concludes that if Ameritech could offer long-distance service here, then consumers could eventually save that $1.03 billion.

Not only would long-distance competition and prices get better but, following New York's example, competition and costs for local telephone service would also improve.

And it's not only New Yorkers — Texans, Oklahomans and Kansans are reaping the rewards of full competition as well.

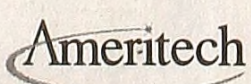

Ameritech continues to work closely with the Michigan Public Service Commission and other telephone companies to follow the blueprint established in those states by the Federal Communications Commission.

As the report indicates, it's time for our state to eliminate barriers to long-distance competition, so Michigan customers can enjoy the benefits of greater savings and choices in their long-distance and local telephone service.

Sincerely,

Diane L. Webb

NEWS FROM THE CITY OF WAYNE

Who buckles best? Wayne or Glenn! Students are locked in a do-or-die battle

In whatever competitive endeavor one can think of, Wayne Memorial and Westland John Glenn students always seem to battle it out to the finish.

And, today, the two natural rivals are locked in a do-or-die duel to see which school has the more students buckling up when driving.

Wayne and Glenn have challenged each other to see which one has the greatest percentage of safety belt users, after all, it is the law, isn't it?

The winning school will receive a plaque from AAA Michigan, and both schools will receive donations for their graduation safety activities.

So far, Jim Rink, of AAA and a former Michigan Community Newspapers' staffer says, "It's a dead heat."

According to SADD members (that's Students Against Drunk Driving), who took a secret survey of 200 vehicles and documented the number of front seat occupants and noted how many of those riders were buckled up, the results showed that John Glenn drivers records a 77 percent wearing seat belts and 23 percent not wearing them. That was the same result recorded for Wayne drivers.

Not bad, but there definitely is room for improvement considering:

- Safety belt use is the law in Michigan;
- If you're in a collision, you're 25 times more likely to be killed if you're not wearing a safety belt.

As mentioned, it's always a "dead heat" when these two schools battle.

To break the deadlock, employees from the AAA Michigan Canton branch will be out some morning or afternoon in the next few weeks to see which school has the best safety belt record.

The school with the greatest percentage of usage will be declared the winner and receive the plaque.

"Safety belts saves lives," says AAA Michigan Branch Manager Natalie Rice, "and with Michigan's new standard enforcement safety belt law now in effect, it's a great time to get in the safety belt habit to avoid getting a ticket."

Or worst - killing yourself, or a loved one.

For the record, nationwide, more than 20,000 lives have been saved by proper safety belt usage in the past decade.

AAA reminds you that young drivers are the most at risk for accidents. Much of this is simply due to a lack of experience and taking unnecessary risks.

Your best defense in an accident is to have your safety belt buckled.

AAA of Michigan is working with local police throughout the state to encourage safety belt use through high school safety belt challenges.

Commissioner Sullivan offers free maps

If you're in need of a updated road map, contact Wayne County Commissioner John L. Sullivan.

Sullivan, whose 11th District includes the City of Wayne, is distributing copies of the new, easy-to-use Wayne County Road Map to his constituents.

The new map is updated for 2001, has a fresh new design, and is more useful than the old road maps which are incomplete in many ways because they don't display the new roads and highways.

Sullivan says the new maps are free and are available for anyone who will contact his office.

The new map design features a legend at the bottom that enables people to quickly determine which agency - city, county or state - is responsible for maintenance and/or construction of any road in Wayne County, from the busiest freeway to the smallest residential street.

There are also several key phone numbers for people to call if they need any information, as well as the Wayne County web address.

Sullivan's district also includes the communities of Belleville, Canton, Huron, Romulus, Sumpter, and Van Buren Township.

Anyone interested in receiving a free map may contact the commissioner's office at 313-224-0944 or e-mail him at jsullivan@co.wayne.mi.us.

Other officials should join Dickerson, LeBlanc to review incinerator deal

On the heels of news that the executive director of the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority (CWCSA) Richard Shirley was arrested for indecent exposure, Wayne Mayor Robert Dickerson has joined Westland mayoral candidate Richard LeBlanc in seeking to end a five-city contract with the CWCSA incinerator.

Quite frankly this is welcome news. This column, on a number of occasions, has encouraged our local lawmakers to entertain ending the contract because the incinerator is costing taxpayers an average of five to six times the going rate for garbage disposal.

This is not a typo. Residents of Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Garden City and Dearborn Heights are paying nearly $60 per ton to burn their garbage in the CWCSA incinerator versus the $10-$12 per ton cost we would pay if we were to dump it in a landfill.

To add insult to injury, the incinerator is accepting garbage from communities outside the 5-member consortium at a rate of $20 per ton. CWCSA operators including alleged flasher, Shirley, have maintained they must seek garbage outside the five communities to keep the incinerator viable.

The incinerator is owned by a subsidiary of Baltimore Gas and Electric. The five consortium communities signed a 35-year contract a couple of years ago to take their trash to the incinerator in exchange for millions of dollars of upgrades to bring the incinerator up to code.

Although it was generally acknowledged, at the time of the contract signing, that fees would be higher than landfill fees, the incinerator had a contract with

Detroit Edison that was going to utilize some of the incinerator's end product, and incinerator representatives promised that over the life of the contract, the incinerator would be more cost-effective.

So far that hasn't happened, and the current environment shows that contracts are being challenged with incinerators all over the country. In Clinton Township a lawsuit shutdown the incinerator because the court said it hindered competition.

Additionally some have made the argument that by simply walking away from the contract, the communities would pay less. In other words, the total liability if the communities were to tell the incinerator to take a hike would be $43 million.

Dickerson and LeBlanc claim the landfill would cost $80-million over the life of the contract. Adding the $12 landfill tipping fees to the $43-million would not come close to the $80-million.

I believe the five-community consortium in Western Wayne would have strong arguments to come up with a better deal. I encourage other councilpeople to join Mayor Dickerson and Councilperson LeBlanc. It is your elected duty to see that your constituents are paying the best price possible for garbage disposal. Thus it is your responsibility to take a good long look at a contract that appears to be benefiting only Baltimore Gas and Electric.

Mike's musings

Let's have some fowl play

During Saturday's light snowfall, flocks of mallard ducks and Canadian geese descended to the Summit's detention pond in the absence of the township's border collies.

With the low dark sky casting gloom and the wind stiff and sniffling cold, it wasn't bird watching weather.

But in the interests of multiculturalism, I tightened my scarf, buttoned up coat to teach those water fowl a thing or two about diversity.

The problem was that those birds were not PC.

Instead of sharing traditional cultural dishes with the other Anatidae species, the geese and ducks acted quite territorial.

Ferocious peckers, the geese held the center and most of the periphery of the pond, with the ducks relegated to the far shore.

Filled with courtship passion, the ducks were into preening, drakes stiffening their necks, females turning their heads.

But the geese were snarling. Heads pumping. In one case, I saw a one goose bounce out of the water with his chest thrust out like Allen Iverson after a game-winning shot.

This wasn't supposed to happen in PC Wayne County, especially not in Canton.

After all, the geese are not treated like vermin as in Westland, where ducks are geese are reviled as spreaders of e-coli bacteria, defilers of the Central City Pond.

"You can't go near the pond

without stepping on defecation," as state Rep. Glenn Anderson delicately put it.

So ducks and geese aren't welcome in Westland except on a platter in a Chinese restaurant.

You can't feed them cheese doodles or bread crumbs without risking a $500 fine or 90 days in jail.

All you can offer them is "repellent," a euphemism for something you'd never want to drop at a rave.

In contrast, Canton caters to the flying poop machines' elevated feelings.

Instead of treating them as carriers of a potential epidemic, they're treated like family.

Instead of being offered repellent a la mode, they're offered the family dog.

Last year, the township hired Gooseworks to patrol the Summit, Heritage Park, and Pheasant Run Golf Course with border collies. Instead of eating the geese, the collies were supposed to round them up like Babe in the movie.

So in the spirit of diversity, I'm calling on the township's sensitivity trainers to come to the aid of the ducks and geese.

It's time to raise their consciousness.

Besides the way the animals taunted each other in the most un-PC way, a duck called me a quacker and a goose called me a honky.

Not only were they racist, specie-ist, and territorial, they were sexist.

The drakes had flaunted their bright green heads, forcing the females to wear dull brown feathers and mottled beaks.

While the female goose is degraded in appearance, she must still follow the gander, swimming behind before and after courtship.

As the geese and ducks reside at the Summit, Heritage Park, and Pheasant Run, this behavior could lead to a slew of civil rights lawsuits from a quack attorney.

So whoever's in charge of political correctness, it's time to get all your ducks in a row or your goose may be cooked.

The township's human relations committee must stop discriminating against our fine feathered friends by concentrating on petty human relations over pet relations.

Animals rights must be protected with the full force of the law, outlaw, and military.

An animal holiday is needed. Perhaps, like Francis of Assisi, a day should be set aside to bless the animals.

Animals must be allowed to marry.

But whatever you do, don't let them live at the Summit like beasts.

Cities and counties on 'lust' list

No. This has nothing to do with sex. The word "lust" is an acronym that will be explained below. But it got your attention, didn't it?

Last Sunday's Detroit News published an extensive and well-researched article on the environmental hazard posed to the area's underground drinking water, rivers and lakes by leaking underground storage tanks (lust's).

About twelve years ago, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in conjunction with state agency made an inventory of underground storage tanks that were leaking hazardous materials into the ground, which ultimately leach into the underground drinking water (aquifer), rivers and lakes.

Owners were given a ten-year grace period to replace faulty tanks and clean up contaminated sites before penalties would be assessed. That grace period ended in 1998.

Originally, some state money was available to help in clean up generated by a three-quarter cent gasoline tax. That money has long since been exhausted and the state legislature has not appropriated any new money.

Medium Rare

The MDEQ is now in the last part of a three-year enforcement program to clean up the sites. In the next six months it plans to file criminal charges in over 100 cases.

In Romulus, a total of 125 sites were identified originally, with 25 of those under the control of Wayne County's Metro Airport. As of January of this year, two years after the deadline, 57 sites remain to be cleaned up, with 17 belonging to the county. Neighboring Taylor still has 44 sites to remediate.

While the financial responsibility for clean up rests with the owners, no pressure has been exerted by local government to effect the cleanup. Indeed, one of the violators, General Motors, has received hundreds of thousands of dollars in tax abatements during the grace period.

Contrast this with efforts by Romulus, Taylor and Wayne County to kill a hazardous material disposal facility in Romulus. The EPA and MDEQ, as well as almost all independent experts, agree that method is the safest and preferred method for disposal of "hazardous" materials that are nonflammable, nonexplosive and not radioactive. Yet Romulus has spent over $1 million fighting it and Taylor is quoted as having spent $500,000.

The DEQ has given final approval to the storage and treatment facility for the well, but indications are that Romulus, Taylor and the county will continue to spend tax payers dollars in an effort to delay the project.

Wouldn't it be better to have spent that money fixing current known dangers instead of a politically motivated fight against a process the experts say is the safest available?

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Well approval not in public's best interest

To the editor:

On Friday, Feb. 23, 2001, Local and State officials, who have waged a valiant battle against the creation of a deep injection well in southeastern Michigan, were notified by representatives of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) that Director Russ Harding had approved a construction permit in conjunction with the hazardous waste injection site on Citrin Drive in Romulus.

The permit to construct a facility is the next to the last step in gaining approval for the drilling of the injection well itself and was approved during the evening of February 22nd.

The decision to approve, despite numerous objections by members of the governor's own appointed site review board and petitions from angered citizens, shocked local officials who had only last week stood in support of an additional legal battle suggested by guest speaker and noted attorney, Geoffrey Fieger.

Fieger, during a standing room only crowd in the City of Romulus Council Chambers flanked by numerous state and local officials including Representative Ray Basham, had suggested that donations to republican campaign coffers by EES owners could be responsible for the Governors lack of attention to what Fieger described as a civil rights issue in that the existence of the well threatens the health and safety of the public.

Responding to requests for comments in light of the news, local officials expressed their intention to exercise a further legal challenge, though they would not comment on the form it might take. Wayne County, the City of Taylor and the City of Romulus have pooled their resources in the form of an intergovernmental agreement each signed to fight the creation of the facility. Joining the communities and the County in opposition to the well are sixty different environmental groups throughout the State of Michigan, the Downriver Board of Realtors, Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce, Vision 21, the Wayne County Commission, City Councils and Mayors throughout southeastern Michigan, State and Federal Senators, Federal and State Representatives and hundreds of concerned citizens.

Those fighting the well project would like to thank all the ardent supporters for their efforts against this project and ask that they continue to fight on.

In the words of Senator Debbie Stabenow, "This is not in the public's best interest."

With regrets,
R.E.C.A.P.

EDS entitled to protection of law

To the editor:

I am writing about all the ruckus over the injection well. If you listen all you hear is that EDS should leave town and if not there will be civil disobedience.

My son is a law school student and he has reminded me that EDS has rights also, just like everyone else, and as long as EDS obeys the law it is equally entitled to certain rights and protections under the law.

If our state and federal governments say EDS can build their injection wells then that's the law and we should respect it. EDS deserves the same chance as every other business in Romulus, and they obey the law and the federal state regulations that govern their activities then they should be left alone. If they don't they should be shut down.

I am not a supporter of the well but I do respect the law. We should give EDS the chance they have fought so hard for.

Romak wrong

To the editor:

Thank you for reminding us Romulans that old Mayor McAnally is responsible for all of the problems caused by the deepwell matter.

I don't know much about deepwells but I can't imagine that the EPA would allow them if they were dangerous. I have yet to read anything that says otherwise.

I also don't know why Councilwoman Romak protests so loudly. So loud, in fact, that it's darn suspicious -- either she's being paid by other companies who compete with the well, or she thinks she can use the matter to advance her political ambitions. She reminds me of Chicken Little: "The sky is falling. The sky is falling".

Please, keep on reporting the real facts.

PUBLIC HEARING:

 Jahr moved, Rochowiak seconded to open the public hearing to consider the funding levels for the 2001-2002 Community Development Block Grant program. Carried.

Supervisor King stated this is the second of two public hearing regarding the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program. Proposed projects have been recommended to the Community Services Department from Department Directors and/or by members of the community. The funding level for 2001-2002 fiscal year is $142,000. She stated CDBG projects must meet the following federal guidelines: provide consistency with the stated policies and guidelines established by HUD and Wayne County; provide a higher standard of living for low and moderate income residents through neighborhood and housing revivification; increase community involvement in development by the elimination of slums and blight; enhance community development by removal of architectural barriers; also referencing the compliance with the American with Disabilities Act; create and enhance programs to provide for a rapidly expanding senior population with an emphasis on self-sufficiency; provide basic source benefits through economic development projects; and develop programs and strategies consistent with those of neighboring communities so as to preclude regional fragmentation in community development goals.

Director Ross thanked everyone for their project proposals stating this year $246,000 in project requests had been submitted and reiterated that the funding level is set as $142,000 for the 2001-2002 fiscal year. He discussed the breakdown of the proposed funding as follows: $8,500 for ADA Architectural Barrier Removal for an ADA accessible counter and corridor door for Community Services Department; $14,000 for Administration for wage reimbursements; $36,500 for Neighborhood Improvements, specifically two bleachers for the softball fields at Quirk Park and ADA accessible playground equipment for Van Buren Park; $12,500 for Planning related to the Haggerty/Ecorse roads corridor plan; $30,500 for Public Services (fire Equipment) for a thermal imaging camera, two air monitoring and sampling sensors, two carbon monoxide monitors and fire hose; $20,000 for Slum and Blight Removal for the demolition of four houses; $20,000 for Senior Services for wage reimbursement of the Senior Director, Senior Center modifications for ADA accessible counter and sewing machines.

Trustee Hart stated this is a very compressive and cross-functional funding program.

Clerk Payne stated these are some of the last Federal monies returned to local communities.

There being no further discussion, a motion was made to close the public hearing.

Hart moved, Herman seconded to close the public hearing. Carried.

Herman moved, Rochowiak seconded to open the public hearing to consider the Special Use Approval for Camping World to expand an existing service center and to provide an outdoor sales display of recreational vehicles at an existing facility, parcel V125-83-060-01-0001-001. Carried.

Coordinator Miller discussed the applicant's proposed plan for the site stating Camping World is proposing a 16,000 square foot building addition. This project includes traffic circulation improvements, pedestrian enhancement and public safety access measures to the site. Also included is an outdoor display area, which will include no more than eight recreational vehicles at any time. In addition, the display area proposes meandering landscaping and soft ground lighting. The project also includes a larger display area within the interior of the site. This area will be shielded from the 1- 94 North Service Drive and adjacent properties through landscaping. The Planning Commission paid special attention to the display area for the Recreational vehicles, requiring larger parking spaces [11 1/2 feet], which will allow customers to walk completely around the recreational vehicles. Coordinator Miller stated the Board had asked a question pertaining to the ground lighting shut off time during Work Study and it was the Planning Commission's intent to have the ground lights on no later than 11:00 p.m.

The Board members discussed the lighting issue and Trustee Herman reiterated that the ground lighting was to shine on the recreational vehicles on display.

Supervisor King stated adjoining property owners were notified that this request had come before the Planning Commission for consideration and questions regarding storm water management were discussed.

There being no further discussion, a motion was made to close the public hearing.

Jahr moved, Hart seconded to close the public hearing. Carried.

Father and son gang up on Belleville

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Fordson knocks off Tigers in Mega Red-White playoffs, 59-51

The DelGiudices apparently have Belleville's number.

The father and son team of Guy and Jeff DelGiudice ganged-up on Belleville on the basketball court and walked away as winners.

Guy DelGiudice, who coaches at Romulus High, handed coach Rod Fisher's Tigers a setback during the stretch of the title run in the Mega-Red Division; Jeff, as in son of Guy DelGiudice, coaches at Dearborn Fordson, and Jeff and the Tractors beat Belleville in the Mega Red-White playoffs Friday night.

Of the two setbacks, Fordson's may have been the most costly for Belleville. It knocked them out of contention for the playoff title.

Belleville managed to overcome the loss to Romulus and turned back Wayne Memorial the following week to clinch the Mega-Red Conference basketball title outright. It was Fisher's first outright Mega-Red Divisional championship as Belleville's head coach. He replaced Mike Garland four years ago. Garland is an assistant coach at Michigan State University.

But the 59-51 loss to Fordson Friday night in the Red-White playoffs left the Tigers on the sidelines. They'll be playing in the consolation bracket.

Fordson advances to play Willow Run, which qualified for the semis thanks to a 76-53 victory over Taylor Truman.

In another playoff surprise, Highland Park defeated Romulus to shatter any hopes of a father-son duel in the championship round of the playoffs.

Fisher pointed to the boards at both ends of the floor as probable reasons for his team's demise against an inspired and tireless Tractor squad that proved relentless on the boards.

Fisher said Fordson dominated the boards and that they deserved to win.

Fordson has been unbeatable since the altercation earlier this month which flared up in the Dearborn Heights Robichaud game. The on-the-floor exchange of words and shoving cost coach Jeff DelGiudice the services of two of his starters for the following two games.

The disputed game was not completed because of a melee between players and fans.

Friday night the Tractors came ready to play a highly-touted Belleville team.

The Tigers live or die in their back court and, although they got excellent performances out of Jerriel Burrus and Jason Szman-sky, a missed shot usually wound up as a Fordson possession. There were few Tiger put-backs and atypically a slew of Belleville turnovers.

James Holmes stepped in to fill the scoring void for the Tigers as he knocked down a game high 17 points, while Burrus finished with 13.

The Tractors had three players in double figures - Roselio Grady, Ali Bazzi and Mo Bazzi. Each hit 15 points.

Fisher's next big challenge is the districts. He will have to regroup his battered team for the rough road ahead. Despite the playoff loss, the Tigers will roll into the Class A District, hosted by Romulus, as the team to beat.

Joining Belleville and Romulus in the scramble for the district championship and a ticket to the regionals will be Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, and Garden City.

Tallman captures gold in diving

Wayne Memorial's Jeff Tallman was unbeatable on the diving boards in the Mega-White Conference this year.

Tallman captured a gold medal as Wayne swept the diving competition on Saturday in Trenton, the site for the 2000-2001 Mega-White Conference Swimming & Diving Championships.

Tallman piled up a total of 387.80 points to finish first on the boards. Teammates Shayne McDonald and Rob Bolish finished second and third, respectively.

McDonald was awarded the silver for his 267.05 points; Bolish cashed in his 258.35 points for a bronze medal.

Overall, Wayne finished in second place to Dearborn Edsel Ford at the White Division Meet.

The T-Birds won the team championship with 320 points. Wayne was runner-up with 273.

"I felt we had a great season," said Wayne Memorial coach Mike Gruber, whose swimmers posted a 9-1 record for the season. "We have a young team and we're looking forward to competing in the Red Division next year."

Although Wayne Memorial is slated to move to the Western Lakes Conference, the date for the move has not been set. Wayne will remain a Mega Conference affiliate until it is officially accepted into the Western Lakes.

Wayne also produced two individual seconds, and one of its relays, the 200-meter freestyle, was second.

Chris Webber touched in after winner Paul Muznon of Edsel Ford did in the 500-meter freestyle. Webber's second-best time was 5:25.04, while the Edsel swimmer was clocked with the best time of 5:13.51.

Andy Drennen also gave Wayne a second as he trailed Ed-

Playoffs coming up

Ouch! That one hurt - Glenn loses in OT

Losing hurts, but losing when you know your team could have won, really hurts.

That statement may sum up the frustration head basketball coach Joel Lloyd and the John Glenn Rockets felt as they walked off, losers on the hardwood Friday night at Livonia Churchill.

Churchill came from behind and tied the score at 49 in regulation. Then the Chargers outscored the Westlanders 10-2 in overtime to post a 57-49 victory in the second game of a round-robin tournament between the second division finishing teams of the Western Lakes Activities Conference second-division playoffs.

The top eight finishing teams play for the conference playoff title, while the bottom four compete in a round-robin. That's so that they can keep in tune until the district playoffs.

In the upper bracket, Walled Lake Central, the conference champ, defeated Plymouth-Salem in the semis, to advance to the playoff finals where they take on Northville for the playoff title. (The championship game was played last night).

Churchill's Shawn Foster canned two three-pointers and Will Pendergrass hit on four consecutive free throws in the OT which clinched it for the Chargers.

Glenn built up a nine-point advantage at halftime (29-18) before Churchill came back in the second half to give the visitors a battle to the finish.

Foster and Pendergrass each finished with 16 points, the game's high. The best of Glenn came from Mike Goree, who scored 11 points.

In the first-round of the round robin, Glenn was ambushed by a physical Farmington Hills Harrison ball club that outscored their hosts 19-7 in the third period to break open a close game.

It was closed until that point. Harrison led 14-11 after the first period, but the Rockets managed to come back and tie the score at 28 before the half.

Glenn scored only nine points, all by Michael Goree, in the third period as Harrison capitalized and moved to a 45-39 lead en route to a 62-52 victory.

Goree scored a season's high 20 points. Teammate Brent Bogel, a 6-3 senior center, chipped in nine for the Rockets who made 13 of 19 of their free throws.

Harrison's Terrill Mayberry led his team with 13 points, and Winston Coffee added 10, while Matt Elsey knocked down eight of his nine free throws.

The Rockets brought down the regular season Tuesday night entertaining Livonia Franklin in the final game of the conference round-robin series. Then, next week, the Westlanders will head for Romulus where they will be joined by Belleville, Garden City and their cross district foes, Wayne Memorial, to compete in the district playoffs.

Salem avenges loss to Canton in playoffs

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

They may not have stopped conference powerhouse Walled Lake Central in the semifinals, but Plymouth-Salem and coach Bob Brodie did manage last week to avenge their loss to natural rival, Plymouth-Canton.

The Rocks settled their score with their cross-district rival in the first-round of the Western Lakes Conference playoff championship.

Salem's tenacious defense held Canton to 39 points to its 47 in the opening round of the conference playoffs. Canton had defeated the Rocks during the regular season.

The victory over Canton moved Brodie's Rocks into the semis of the conference playoffs where, Central, which had earlier won the conference championship, was waiting. Central shattered the Rocks' dreams of reaching the finals, 59-45, as three Central seniors - guard Steve Horn, center Mark Bortz and forward Jon Auer all scored in double figures.

Central was scheduled to play Northville last night (Wednesday) at Livonia Franklin to decide which of the two teams should be awarded the playoff crown.

In the packed Salem gym, the rematch between Brodie's Rocks and Coach Jeremy Rheault's Chiefs shaped up into a typical tense, battle for each possession, suspenseful Salem-Canton game.

Neither team conceded until the final whistle.

Playing patiently and discriminately selecting their shots kept the score down and the outcome of the game uncertain until the final seconds.

Canton led by five, 11-6, after the first period, but the Rocks managed to close to within a basket, 20-18, at the half. It was a 32-29 game after three periods, then the unexpected happened.

Jeff Haar sparked a Salem rally as he drove in for five quick points and eventually collected all of his 10 points in an 18-7 Salem final quarter.

"He (Haar) hurt us tremendously in that last period," stressed Rheault after the game. "We led throughout most of the game. While we couldn't get a bucket at the end, Haar and Tockman (Nick Tockman) came up with some very big baskets for them."

The Canton coach said his team shot 30 percent for the night from the field.

Tockman also finished in double figures for the winners. He had 11. Canton got 12 points from Oliver Wolcott and 10 from Terry Gaines.

The loss put the Chiefs into the consolation round of the playoffs where they played and defeated Livonia Stevenson by 14, 54-40.

Canton, with Gaines tossing in 10 of his game high 18 points in the third period, broke open a close game by outscoring the Spartans 21-12 in the third.

Up to that point, Stevenson looked as if it could pull the upset over a team that handed Central, the conference champ, its only loss of the season.

The Spartans led 10-6 after the first quarter, but they were held to three points in the second by a tightened Canton defense. Canton closed the gap to 13-12 at the half.

Gaines and Wolcott sparked the Chiefs' rally in the third, which lifted Canton to a 33-25 lead after three period. Then, Canton went on and outscored their visitors 21-15 in the last quarter to salt away the victory.

Wolcott, who scored 16 points, 12 of those in the second half, was the only other Canton player to score in double figures.

The Spartans, who scored on six of nine at the free throw line, received 11 points from Nick

Wayne pulls out victory over Inkster

Suspended from districts, Vikings end hoop season tonight

It was the first time, and it may be the last time, an Inkster High School varsity basketball team, coached by Steve Brooks, will play Wayne Memorial.

But neither Coach Brooks nor Wayne Woodard of Wayne Memorial, or the two Mega Conference opponents will probably soon forget their last encounter.

What may have been the final meeting between these two traditionally strong basketball powers took place Friday night. Wayne said "good-bye" to Inkster High and a standing room only crowd by pulling out a victory over the Vikings with a second-half rally.

Wayne put the Mega Red-White playoff game in its win column, 63-59.

Waiting final approval from both conferences, Wayne may soon leave the Mega for the Western Lakes Conference. Since the two schools may not meet in the conference and, as the Vikings are a Class B school, (Wayne is Class A), the two teams may not meet again in competitive varsity sports in the near future.

The occasion for the renewed rivalry Friday night was the Mega Red-White Conference's playoffs. Wayne represented the Mega-Red; Inkster, the Mega-White.

The playoff game between the two went right down to the wire before Wayne salvaged the victory. Inkster, sparked by Darius Kincannon, led 16-10 after the first period, and held a narrow 26-25 lead after two periods.

Behind balanced scoring provided by Matt Patterson, Earl Brinston and Gary Johnson, Wayne took control of the game in the fourth quarter, and the Zebras were challenged to protect their slim five point lead down the stretch.

The game was tied at 45 and at 47 in the fourth quarter, before the Zebras managed to break loose, thanks to baskets from Johnson and Patterson.

"It was a well-played game," said Brooks after the game. "You can appreciate the competitiveness of this match up when you realize these kids grew up in the same neighborhood, and know each other well."

"They didn't want to lose. They played their hearts out."

Kincannon, who had nine of his points before the half, finished with a game high 16 points and seven rebounds. The Vikings also had three other players in double figures: Julius Martin scored 15; Kentrail Fickling added 11. Michael Hunter contributed 10.

Inkster also made nine of 12 from the free throw line. Wayne was eight of 10 from the stripe.

Three Wayne players made it into double scoring figures. Patterson, Brinston and Johnson each had 13 points.

Earlier in the week, the Vikings went flat in the first period at Flat Rock and were deflated by the hosts 60-37.

Canton will send 2 of its wrestlers to state

Demsick, Wagner survive regional competition

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Although the 2000-2001 Plymouth-Canton team has accomplished much this season - the Chiefs won a district title last week - the one crowning achievement that has eluded them in recent years was to send wrestlers to the state meet.

Coach John Demsick's Chiefs corrected that over the weekend at the regional wrestle-downs. Canton has two state qualifiers. They are 125-pounder Doy Demsick and Ozzie Wagner, a 215-pounder.

Demsick was Canton's lone representative in the finals at the regionals hosted by Temperance Bedford, while Wagner made it to the consolation round of his weight class and placed fourth.

Canton has two state qualifiers.

“We, as a team, are very proud of Doy and Ozzie,” said coach Demsick. “They both fought hard and will be continuing their season at the state meet. We had hopes of many more making it and wrestling on, but some things just didn't go our way and some of our guys just needed a little more confidence.”

Demsick stressed that he and his coaching staff - Helm-Dem-sick-Demsick-Pocock-London - are very proud of the team members and are committed to doing even better next year.

“We know more and more of our guys are going to be working for, and working to place at the state meet, but you always need someone to go first and show the way.”

“All our wrestlers are developing as leaders in various ways, and it's great to see Doy and Ozzie stepping up in this,” said Demsick.

Canton finished its season with a 15-5 overall record. All five of the Chiefs' losses were to teams that were state-ranked.

Canton also placed first at five of the tournaments and second in two other tournaments this year.

5 junior skaters qualify for state

Five skaters from Plymouth Canton's Educational Park's newly-formed figure skating team have qualified in their discipline to advance to the state championships.

The state competition will be staged March 3 at the Birmingham Ice Arena.

The five qualifiers are: Amy Caudill, Renae Kolarik, Michelle Manery, Christin Nycek, and Brandi Reed.

Caudill, a junior at Plymouth-Canton, qualified in Bronze Dance. Amy also skates on the Gems On Ice junior-level synchronized team through the Plymouth Figure Skating Club.

Kolarik, also a junior at Plymouth-Canton, qualified in the Bronze dance. She skates on the Crystallettes senior-level international synchronized team through the Dearborn Figure Skating Club and is also a member of the track team at Plymouth-Canton.

Manery attends Plymouth-Salem High School where she is a freshman. She qualified in Silver dance. She also skates on Team Elan, a junior-level synchronized team through the Detroit Skating Club.

Nycek, a sophomore at Salem, qualified in Novice freestyle. Christin is a member of the Salem Junior Varsity Cheerleading squad.

Reed is the only senior among the five qualifiers. She made it in Senior freestyle, the highest level a skater may achieve. She also is a member of STS video productions at PCEP.

Brooks had no explanation for his team's unexpected letdown.

“We just couldn't buy a basket over there,” the Vikings' coach said. “I do believe our kids were just in awe at the athletic complex over there. They didn't snap out of it until the second half and, by then, it was too late.

“Would you believe that we went scoreless for the entire first period?”

Martin's 12 points was the high point of the Vikings' game.

Because the high school has been slapped by the Michigan

High School Athletic Association (MHSA) with a two-year suspension that prohibits them to compete in the state playoffs, Inkster is ineligible to participate in the upcoming district playoffs.

The suspension is due to the use of ineligible players, infractions and other MHSA rules violations.

The district basketball playoffs will begin next week.

Brooks and the Vikings will unfortunately not have the opportunity to display their talents at districts. They wrap up the 2000-2001 season tonight against Monroe, their final Mega Red-White playoff game. They played Ypsilanti Monday night.

Glenn

Although the Tigers lost to Fordson in the semifinals of the Mega Red-White Conference playoffs, Belleville remains the team to beat at that district.

No one, however, is counting

Romulus, the host school and defending district champ, out of the race. The Eagles reached the state regional finals before they were knocked out by Ann Arbor Pioneer, which went on to win the Class A state championship last year.

But, with 6-11 center Justin Ockerman, Garden City could be the next district champ.

Ehrendt. The Chiefs made 11 of 15 free throws.

Canton and North Farmington squared off Tuesday night in the final game of the playoff series.

Most area and local teams will have Friday night off in anticipation of the state playoffs which will begin on Monday.

In the semis, Salem could not match Central's superior strength on the boards as Central's senior center Mark Bortz nailed 18 points, grabbed 10 rebounds and blocked eight shots for the conference champs en route to the semifinal victory, 59-45.

Tockman and sophomore Dave Hoskins each tossed in 14 points for the Rocks who went into Tuesday's final conference playoff game against Stevenson with an 8-11 record.

Central put an 18-1 record on the block against Northville on Wednesday. The champs' lone loss was to Canton, which had slashed the champs 13-game winning streak.

Last call for junior basketball teams
